Last Week's Program

Chris Jennings, Executive Vice President of the Spartanburg Convention and Visitors Bureau, was our guest last week. He told us about the many areas that Spartanburg has to offer and attract visitors, which is the focus of a new advertising campaign that they have produced in partnership with the city and county. One example is the Carolina Panthers training camp, which had record attendance of over 135,000 fans last year, and economic impact of more than $13.1M.

Spartanburg Rotarian spins tall tales on Read Across America Day

Dick Carr, a member of the Rotary Club of Spartanburg, read at EP Todd Elementary School to Ms. Bonetti's 2nd grade and Ms. Bankhead's reading class. Ms. Bonetti's class was learning about "Tall tales" and Dick said he read a doozy about life of boatman on the Mississippi River. Ms. Bankhead's tall tale was "what could one do with giant animal feet!" "I had a wonderful time, Dick said, "since I have no problem with tall tales."

April - Bring a Friend to Rotary
....think about potential members for our club and invite them to attend a meeting!
