Last Week's Program

Dr. Greg Colbath spoke about some of the issues with the opioid epidemic and what we can do to address the problem. He told us there were over 65,000 deaths in the US last year from opioid overdoses. About 99% of surgical patients receive a prescription for an opioid pain medicine, and one in fifteen of those patients will go on to long term use and abuse. Some measures that have been implemented are minimizing opioid prescriptions for post-op pain management and drug take-back programs.
